Mr. Bryan's Resignation.

The resignation of Secretary Bryan has created a sensation throughout the world. A known apostle of peace, his withdrawal means that the President will hereafter pursue a more vigorous policy, not only in the present crisis with Germany, but in the Mexican trouble as well. As a persistent and unyielding opponent of war under any circumstances, Mr. Bryan has been a handicap to the President in upholding the dignity of the country. The Huerta insult, the German insolence and similar recent occurrences have created a growing impression that the United States cannot be provoked into war, even to uphold the honor of the nation. Mr. Bryan is beginning to again reach an erratic stage in his remarkable career and has identified himself with several issues that the President cannot endorse. The country has come to regard Mr. Bryan as merely a department head, shining in the reflected light of the ablest statesman of his time, and that such a position should in time become irksome to Mr. Bryan is not a surprise. Great men are not always the right men to be subordinates of great rulers. The President will most probably fill Mr. Bryan's place with a secretary who will find out what his chief wants done and help him to do it.

A Washington dispatch says a coalition cabinet, such as was recently formed in England, may be the result of Sec. Bryan's resignation. Men most prominently mentioned in Washington to succeed Bryan are Wm. H. Taft and Elihu Root. The president's close advisers think it would have a wholesome effect on public opinion abroad, as well as toward unifying the nation, to appoint Taft, who has wholeheartedly approved Wilson's foreign policy.

W. J. BRYAN RESIGNS FROM THE CABINET

DISAPPROVES GERMAN NOTE

Secretary of State Cannot Reconcile Peace Views With U. S. Action.

RESIGNATION WAS ACCEPTED
Great Commoner to Continue Political Support of President, He States.

Washington, June 9.—William Jennings Bryan, three times democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States and author of nearly thirty peace treaties with principal nations of the world, resigned yesterday as secretary of state, as a dramatic sequel to his disagreement with President Wilson over the government's policy toward Germany.

The resignation was accepted by the President. The cabinet then approved the response which had been prepared to the German reply to the Lusitania note. Acting Secretary Robert Lansing will sign the document and it will be cabled to Berlin.

Secretary Bryan will return to private life at once. It was learned that he intends to continue his political support of the President.

Rather than sign the document, which he believed might possibly draw the United States into war, Mr. Bryan submitted his resignation in a letter declaring that "the issue involved is of such moment that to remain a member of the cabinet would be as unfair to you as it would be to the cause which is nearest my heart, namely the prevention of war."

The President accepted the resignation in a letter of regret, tinged with deep personal feeling of affection. The letters constituting the official announcement of Mr. Bryan's departure from the cabinet to private life were made public at the White House at 6 o'clock last night.

BRYAN'S LETTER.
Secretary Bryan's letter of resignation was as follows:

"My Dear Mr. President:
"It is with sincere regret that I have reached the conclusion that I should return to you the commission of secretary of state with which you honored me at the beginning of your administration.

"Obedient to your sense of duty and actuated by the highest motives, you have prepared for transmission to the German government a note in which I cannot join without violating what I deem to be an obligation to my country, and the issue involved is of such moment that to remain a member of the cabinet would be as unfair to you as it would be to the cause which is nearest my heart, namely, the prevention of war."

"I, therefore, respectfully tender my resignation to take effect when the note is sent, unless you prefer an earlier hour. Alike desirous of reaching a peaceful solution of the problems arising out of the use of submarines against merchantmen, we find ourselves differing irreconcilably as to the methods which should be employed.

"It falls to your lot to speak officially for the nation; I consider it to be none the less my duty to endeavor as a private citizen to promote the end which you have in view by means which you do not feel at liberty to use.

"In severing the intimate and pleasant relations which have existed between us during the past two years, permit me to acknowledge the profound satisfaction which it has given me to be associated with you in the important work which has come before the state department, and to thank you for the courtesies extended.

SUBMARINES CAUGHT.

Four Entangled in Nets on The East Coast of Scotland.

New York, June 9.—Four German submarines were captured in the Firth of Tay on the east coast of Scotland in a recent raid, according to officers of the liner Cameronia, which arrived from Glasgow. These undersea crafts made a raid upon the Firth and passed under Tay bridge, the longest bridge in the world, and were caught on their return in nets spread by the port authorities.

The submarines were kept entangled 62 hours, said the Cameronia officers, after which they were allowed to come up. The crews were found to be exhausted and surrendered immediately.

AUSTRIANS PUSH BACK RUSSIANS

Teutons Continue Drive in Galicia, But England Believes Exhaustion is Near.

ITALIANS IN GENERAL ATTACK

Cavalry Pierces Austrian Line, Is Report Coming From Geneva.

London, June 9.—The big battle in Galicia has reached no decision. The Austro-Germans have crossed the Dniester south of Lemberg and have assumed the offensive farther to the south and, according to the Austrian official report, have pushed the Russians back between Kolomea and Kalusz in eastern Galicia.

British and Russian military opinion is that the Austro-Germans, after their big effort, which regained for them the greater part of Galicia, have about exhausted themselves, and the view is expressed that they soon will have to fortify a line on which they can withstand the Russian counter offensive, which already has made itself felt on the lower San. If the Russian positions really were dangerous, these authorities, say, the allies long ago would have taken the offensive in the west to relieve the pressure on the eastern front.

It is true that the French have been attacking at a number of points between Rheims and the district north of Arras and have gained some ground, but the British are quiet and it hardly can be said that a general offensive in the west has begun.

The British report all quiet on their front, but to the Zeppelin brought down Monday they claim to have added two German aeroplanes as an offset to the destruction, reported by the Germans, of an allied aeroplane near Douai.

The operations on the Italo-Austrian frontiers are screened by the censorship. There are indications, however, that a big battle is imminent, if it has not already begun, along the Isonzo river, where the Italians apparently have decided to launch their principal attack. The Italian cavalry have crossed the river and it was reported from Geneva today that they had pierced the Austrian line.

There also are reports that the allies again have taken the offensive on the Gallipoli peninsula and have defeated the Turks.

German submarines continue their activities. Among their latest victims were three Norwegian vessels, the steamers Trudvang and Glittertind, with iron ore and lumber, respectively, for British ports, and the bark Superb with grain from South America for Queenstown.

Others sunk were the Belgian steamer Menaupier, with the loss of seventeen lives, and the trawler Portland.

Rumania, according to a German report, has declined the first offer of the entente allies to join them, and Bulgaria, in agreement with Rumania, is said to be willing to take any action that country decides on.

Four Ships Sunk.

Four ships Tuesday were added to the German submarine toll—these being the Belgian steamer Menapier, the Norwegian bark Superb, each approximately 1,400 tons, and the small Norwegian steamers Glittertind and Trudvang. Of the twenty-three persons on the Menapier, seventeen were lost, including the captain, his wife and daughter.

It is claimed that women are drinking to a greater extent than they used to.

The Warren County Board of Education may make a contract with Ogden College, Bowling Green, for the tuition of county common school graduates, designating the college as a county high school, the tuition to be $15 annually. There will be a meeting at Evansville to-night to discuss the proposed Dixie Bee Line Highway from Chicago to Nashville. It is expected that several delegations from Kentucky counties will attend the meeting. No formal arrangements have been made for Hopkinsville to be represented, but Hopkinsville is on the route and will be there with the goods. Let the other counties "go to it."

Expatriates Who Met in Liege Were Decidedly Unsatisfied With Their Situation.

In exchanging with some friends the other night experiences regarding the speaking of alien tongues in alien lands, Dr. William E. Henderson, of the State university faculty, told an incident that once happened in a restaurant at Liege, Belgium.

"I was new to Europe and new to most of its languages. Therefore whenever I had to go to a restaurant my scanty command of French and German was always a source of embarrassment. I never was sure just what was going to be brought me, and my ordering was very laborious. One day I recall I was in a restaurant at Liege when the inevitable waiter came up and began to listen for my broken French. After a few words to him I muttered to myself, 'I wish I could be sure of getting a good square meal once.'"

"At this the man looked out of the window and with a far-away look in his eyes commented, 'Gee, but I wish I was back in Denver!'"

"I never think of the tragedies of recent months at Liege," added Doctor Henderson, "that I do not connect with them this little memory of the two expatriates."—Columbus Dispatch.

Child's Allowance.

Should boys and girls have their own allowance, in proportion to the means of the parents, as soon as they are old enough to know the value of money? This is what many a parent has said in substance:

"Certainly. An allowance is the best safeguard against the habit of extravagance, if the child is taught to spend the money judiciously and to keep a strict account of all expenditures. It is absurd to think that a boy is not capable of buying his own neckties or a girl her handkerchiefs. What if they do make mistakes? They can be taught to profit by them and they must learn to rely upon themselves sooner or later. Children like to be trusted and will seldom betray confidence."

QUICK PRODUCTION OF MEAT

Swine Afford Opportunity of Realizing Profit Quicker Than in Any Other Way.

After all is said and done regarding the necessity of increasing the meat supply, the fact remains that meat can be produced quicker and in greater supply by hogs than in any other way. While sheep and cattle will give an annual increase of from 60 to 100 per cent, the swine will give from 500 to 1,500 per cent. Likewise, while cattle are two years in getting ready for market, hogs can be ready in six to eight months.

On the other side of the argument is the fact that the hog is useful for meat production only, while sheep are used for wool as well as meat; dairy cows have as their main purpose the production of milk products; and range cattle as well as sheep, are raised under conditions and on feed which would be little good for commercial hog production.

The loss by disease among hogs is also high. And when the subject is carried farther, the hen comes close to carrying off highest honors for reproduction.

A 200-egg hen, if every egg would hatch, could with the assistance of the incubator totally outshadow all other domestic animals in the number of offspring produced per annum, or the value of the eggs themselves, which in nature and digestibility are in many respects a meat product, make the hen the champion meat producer of the farm.

SOME SECRETS OF TOMATOES

Clip Out Runners and Fruit Will Be Early and Handy to Pick—Improvement Over Old Way.

In choosing tomato plants for growing prize tomatoes, do not select tree tomatoes, as they are not prolific, but pick out some good, smooth, meaty variety. Set the plants on the south side of the stake, about four inches from it, and train same to stake as it grows, tying with binder twine or cloth strings, which are preferable.

Many times when the vines are very rank two branches will start to grow from the top, but clip one off, allowing only one to grow to a height of five feet, then clip the tops and keep them clipped, which will hasten the ripening, and convert all the strength of the vine into fruit.

When the plants are eight or ten inches high, little runners or shoots will appear in the forks. Here, writes C. P. Bowsley in Farm and Home, is where the whole secret lies. These runners sap the main vines and turn all the strength into vines instead of tomatoes. When they appear pinch them off and allow only one main vine to grow. The fruit buds or blossoms will also appear in the same fork, but do not disturb them. Keep clipping out the runners every time you find any or when you cultivate them. The fruit will be nice, early, clean, handy to pick, a great improvement over the old way.

ROLLING FOR WINTER GRAINS

Question Raised Whether Crops Should Be Harrowed in Spring or Given Other Cultivation.

(By ALVIN KEYSER, Agronomist, Colorado Agricultural College.)

Especially after dry winters the question is raised whether or not winter grains should be harrowed early in the spring or given other cultivation.

Long experiments show that if harrowing can be done under these conditions at a time when the soil is just moist enough at the surface to roll up in granules behind the harrow, benefits will accrue, especially in dry seasons.

It has been found, however, that rolling such lands under similar conditions with a corrugated roller, bar roller, or other roller of similar type which leaves the surface of the ground roughened yet performs the compaction desired, will give even better results than harrowing.

Different experiments, covering nine years' work, gave better results than harrowing.

Cost of Fertilizing Material.

If the fertilizing material contained in the manure made by fifty dairy cows in a single year were to be purchased in commercial fertilizers at present market price they would cost over two thousand dollars.

Modern Manure Spreaders.

There has been a wonderful evolution in manure spreaders during the last few years. The modern spreader is little like the type made but a short period ago.

DEATH'S JOKE ON A WARRIOR

Horse Threw French Officer After His Miraculous Recovery From Battle Wound.

There is something bitter and ironical in the manner of the death of a heroic officer, Lieut. Albert Baron, who is announced from the peace-provincial city of Saintes. The young lieutenant had fought heroically in the Army of Lorraine, and had been mentioned several times in dispatches for his brilliant conduct under fire. He had fallen at the head of his men in an irresistible charge, pierced through the breast by a German bullet.

As he lay on the field of battle a shell exploded within a few feet of him, almost burying him under a mass of earth. Picked up for dead twelve hours later, he made a miraculous recovery, and a few weeks ago was sent on convalescent leave to Saintes.

His ardent wish was to be gratified. He was to leave again for his regiment at the front. Then, a few days ago, as he was riding down the main street of the quiet provincial town, his horse took fright at a coming tram car, shied and threw him. He fell on the track and his head was crushed by the wheel of the car.—Paris Letter to the London Telegraph.

IS NOT A DESOLATE LAND

Mineral and Agricultural Wealth of Poland Has Been Underestimated by the World.

The prevalent impression in the West that the operations in Poland have been conducted in wild and desolate country is curiously wide of the truth. Poland is now more densely populated than any other part of Russia, and the towns which have figured in the recent dispatches are centers of thriving industry. Plotsk does a great trade in sugar, like Lublin. Radom, now out of sound of the guns, has large tanneries and distilleries. Kalisz, through which a big German column passed to relieve the pressure in the center, is famous for lace and embroideries. Every little town around which the fighting has raged has its own mills, chiefly textile. Poland is rich in minerals, and its coal field is of considerable extent. It is not necessary to cross into Silesia to find either factories or Germans engaged in running them. If Russia could have saved Poland from invasion, the London Times, which notes the foregoing facts, is sure she would have done so.

MEASUREMENT.

"Remember," said the efficiency advocate, "that time is money."

"I suppose so," replied the worried man. "I'm getting so that it makes me as nervous to look at my watch as if it were the register on a taxicab."

OTHERS DOUBTFUL.

"Never a show where you're sure of that."

CHEAP STUFF.

Belle—From the looks of it, I should say it was marked down.

ITS LOCALITY.

ACCOUNTED FOR.

"Miss Pert says she has such an elastic nature."

"Maybe that is why she does so much rubbering."

THE REASON.

"Why was it the facts in the story leaked out?"

"Because it wouldn't hold water."

A SERIOUS MATTER.

"Sly dog! Is that a billet-doux you have there?"

"Nope; just a bill due."

DEFINED.

"What's hush money, pa?"

"The poker winnings I give your mother, son."

BUILDING HOIST FOR SILOS

Device Which Has Been Found Satisfactory for Number of Years Is Easily Constructed.

A hoist which has been successfully operated for a number of years on two pit silos built close together, may be easily constructed. It consists of a frame work set upon the edge of the silo and firmly guyed in position.

A length of hay carrier track leading to each silo is supported by a piece of 4 by 6 inch timber. These timbers are laid upon the two 2 by 8 inch cross pieces which are supported by two 18-foot lengths of telephone poles. As the rope unwinds from the drum, one carrier may be run out, tripped, and the box allowed to lower while the other box is drawn out.

Pulleys keep the ropes up out of the wind and guide them as they wind on the drum.

Enlarged Tonsils and Adenoids.

Before operating to remove adenoids and tonsils the health of the child should always be built up. If there is an existing cold this must be treated and cured. If the teeth are decayed they must be filled. Treating the teeth and the practicing of deep breathing exercises will be all that is needed to cure tonsil disease if it is strictly local, and not the expression of a systematic condition or some recent infection.

DISCOVERY OF GREAT VALUE

New York Physician Claims to Have Found Anesthetic of the Highest Importance.

Dr. Clarence Webster of the staff of the New York Presbyterian hospital says he believes his new discovery, which is a safer substitute for twilight sleep and an anesthetic, is of great importance in the medical world, but he is not quite ready to give his knowledge to the public.

"When I think the proper time has come," says Doctor Webster, "I will make known my discovery in one of the medical journals. I consider that the best way."

"Is your anesthetic given hypodermically?" he was asked.

"I can answer that. It is not. It is inhaled."

"Do you consider it far superior to chloroform or ether or any combination of the two?"

"Oh, yes. We hope and think that we have made a very important discovery. We have been working with it at the Presbyterian hospital for about six months—but we are not ready to announce anything just yet."

"Is any special apparatus required for its use?"

"Not at all. It can be given in the course of general practice and the patient need not even be taken to a hospital."

No one at the Presbyterian hospital has been given Doctor Webster's secret, at least they say they haven't.

Elaborate Chinese Funerals.

Funerals in China are most elaborate, no expense being spared to give the departed a grand send-off, no matter what his station in life. Indeed, bankruptcy, owing to the lavishness of a burial ceremony, is no uncommon thing. The never-ending train of ceremonials that follows the demise of a near relative is apt, in many instances, to take not only all the time of the descendants, but all their wealth. For 100 days after the demise an altar is maintained in the home of the surviving relatives, before which they bow and weep, not once, but often daily. Relatives are gathered from far and near and quartered on the already afflicted family. Priests are retained for many days to aid in the ceremonials.

HUMUS AND SOIL FERTILITY

Decayed Vegetable Matter Is Very Important Constituent in Rendering Soils Fertile.

Humus is decayed vegetable matter in the soil and is a very important constituent in rendering soils fertile. There are a number of reasons for this, prominent among which are the following: First, the organic matter contains the essential plant food elements and as it decays these elements are changed into forms available to plants. In other words, the plant food is put in condition to be used again. Second, as the organic matter decays certain acids are produced and these, acting upon the insoluble mineral constituents in the soil, dissolve and render them available to plants. Third, many of the changes in the soil are brought about by bacterial action, and decaying organic matter furnishes food for the bacteria so they can grow and multiply and thus render more mineral plant food elements soluble in the soil water. Plants cannot take up solid foods from the soil; first they can appropriate food it must first be gotten in solution like sugar goes into solution when put into water.

Then there are other ways in which humus benefits the soil. It renders the soil dark in color, and a dark soil absorbs more heat than a light colored one; that is of considerable advantage in the early spring. A soil filled with organic matter is also capable of holding more moisture than one that is deficient in this constituent. In a dry year this may mean the difference between a fair crop and a complete failure.

These being facts, why don't we plow under more organic matter? Why don't we grow more clover or other legumes which actually draw plant food—nitrogen—from the air and store it up in their tissues later to be converted into plant food in the soil? Every man should include one or more legumes in his rotation for soil building purposes and thus maintain the fertility of his farm.

GARLIC FLAVOR IN MILK

May Be Prevented by Proper Management of Dairy Herd and Pastures.

In many States garlic or wild onion is one of the first green plants to start in the pastures in the spring and is a menace to the dairymen because its odor is transmitted to the milk, thus greatly reducing its market value. Many preparations have been put on the market, to be given to the cows for the purpose of overcoming this odor. These remedies are usually accompanied with directions as to when the cattle should be removed from pastures containing garlic. In most cases these directions are more valuable than the so-called remedies.

Methods have been devised whereby garlic odor may be removed from the milk by passing air through it. While this method may prove quite successful in a large dairy or in a creamery, the cost and the short time it is used make it impracticable for the average dairyman.

There are two important steps to be taken by the dairyman in protecting himself from this trouble. The first is to prevent the cows, so far as possible, from obtaining garlic; the second is to manage the herd on garlic pasture in such a way as to have it suffer the least harmful results.

Garlic makes a growth much earlier in the spring than pasture grasses, and therefore is usually most troublesome when cows are first turned to pasture and when grass is not plentiful. In many cases garlic is localized in the pastures, and the places should be fenced off and used for pasturing stock other than milk-producing cows. When the garlic is scattered about the fields it is impossible to do this and the dairyman who would not have the flavor of the milk of his cows impaired must so manage his herd as to overcome the difficulty. The unpleasant flavor and odor is strongest in milk from cows that have just eaten the garlic. If, three or four hours before milking, the cows are placed in a garlic-free field, the trouble will be reduced to a minimum. If such a field is not available they may be brought to the stable yard and fed on silage or hay and allowed to remain out of doors until the regular milking time. This practice the dairyman can usually follow without serious inconvenience.

The trouble caused by garlic is not liable to last long, as the weed is usually cropped off by the cows within a few days after they are turned to pasture, and as soon as the grass becomes plentiful they will eat it in preference.

The complete eradication of the garlic plant is the most satisfactory method of avoiding trouble and is practicable on the ordinary dairy farm. Those interested in such eradication should write to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for Farmers' Bulletin 610, entitled "Wild Onion; Method of Eradication," and Farmers' Bulletin 608, which gives directions for removing garlic flavor from milk.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK IN BOYD COUNTY.

A visiting nurse, Miss May Bogard, has been employed for 14 months at Ashland, Boyd county. During that period 26 deaths have occurred from tuberculosis. In all these cases, the patient's lot has been made easier by the ministrations of the nurse. In addition, her instruction in the care of the patient and fumigation of the home will probably prevent other members of the family from contracting the disease. The nurse has now 45 consumptives under her supervision, two being cared for in a tent. Last month, the nurse made 170 visits to the various patients. The work is so heavy that an additional nurse will soon be employed. This is a typical story of successful visiting nurse work in a number of Kentucky cities.

Two Five-Foot Egg-eaters Found In Hen's Nests.

After dispatching it, he found another almost as long under the straw in a nest. He disposed of that also and thinks he has settled the disappearance of his eggs.

EXPERIENCE!

There are certain things that you know, and certain things that your neighbor knows, but your understanding depends on your experience. There are some classes of goods that you buy only once every few years, and that means that you cannot continuously study the value and merit of these goods. When you go into a store you expect the dealer to be honest with you and give you the value of his experience. Our experience not only extends over a great many years, but from the ground up—and it is experience that we put into operation.

We want to give you the benefit of our experience, because we are honest with you, we know you will come again. We want to save you money at all times, and the best way to save it is to give you our candid opinion on experience, so that you will have the benefit of buying that which will serve you best. W. J. BRYAN RESIGNS FROM THE CABINET.

"With the heartiest good wishes for your personal welfare and for the success of your administration, I am, my dear Mr. President,

"Very truly yours,
(Signed) "W. J. BRYAN."

The President's letter to Mr. Bryan was as follows:

"My dear Mr. Bryan:

"I accept your resignation only because you insist upon its acceptance; and I accept it with much more than deep regret, with a feeling of personal sorrow. Our two years of close association have been very delightful to me. Our judgment have accorded in practically every matter of official duty and of public policy until now; your support of the work and purposes of the administration has been generous and loyal beyond praise; your devotion to the duties of your great office and your eagerness to take advantage of every great opportunity for service it offered has been an example to the rest of us; you have earned our affectionate admiration and friendship. Even now we are not separated in the object we seek, but only in the method by which we seek it.

"It is for these reasons my feeling about your retirement from the secretaryship of state goes so much deeper than regret. I sincerely deplore it. Our objects are the same, and we ought to pursue them together. I yield to your desire only because I must and wish to bid you Godspeed in the parting. We shall continue to work for the same causes even when we do not work in the same way.

"With affectionate regard, sincerely yours,
(Signed.) "WOODROW WILSON"

Secretary Bryan said at his home, when told of the formal announcement of his resignation:

"In view of the announcement of my resignation, I will say that letters being made public therewith state my reasons, but I will have a more complete statement that will be given out when the American reply to the German note is sent, which probably will be tomorrow.

"My resignation takes effect as soon as the note has been forwarded."

Mr. Bryan added that he probably would remain in Washington for a while.

Dramatically the official relation of Mr. Bryan with the administration of the man whose nomination he assisted so materially in bringing about at the Baltimore convention of 1912 came to an end. It caused a sensation in the national capital scarcely paralleled in recent years. Ambassadors, ministers and diplomats from foreign lands, officials of every rank and station, heard the news and it was flashed by newspapers extras tonight. They interpreted variously its effect on the delicate situation that had arisen between Germany and the United States. The resignation of the staunchest advocate of peace in the President's official family spread broadcast the belief that the policy of the United States as definitely determined upon would assert and defend the rights of the United States in any eventuality that might arise.

Quiet Shoes.

To make nice sick-room shoes in which you can step about softly, cut from old felt hats sole and heel pieces. Glue these on and you have a quieter shoe than those sold as nurses' shoes. The patten of little feet, so hard on some people's nerves, is easily deadened by the same method, also helping to keep the little feet warm when playing on a cold floor.

Dies On Way To Hospital.

Paducah, Ky., June 8.—The body of Miss Jennie Woolfolk, seventeen years old, who jumped from an Illinois Central train between Eddyville and Princeton on Sunday and was fatally injured, was brought to Paducah on Sunday afternoon and taken to Bardwell, where the funeral was held. Miss Woolfolk was being taken to the asylum at Hopkinsville when the tragedy was enacted. After being given medical attention at Princeton, she was started for Paducah for treatment, but died on the way here about 2 o'clock.

LITTLE PRINCIPALITY DECLARES NEUTRALITY.

Zurich, Switzerland, June 9.—The principality of Lichtenstein, nominally a sovereign State, but in reality connected by treaties, a customs union, and telegraphic and postal communication, with Austria-Hungary, has declared its neutrality in the war. Consequently the Swiss Government, with the consent of France, is allowing the transit for Lichtenstein of wheat entering French ports. The principality is located between Austria and Switzerland. It has an area of sixty-five square miles and a population of about 11,000 persons, almost all devoted to agriculture. Austria-Hungary has notified Switzerland that Lichtenstein is under its censorship, telegraphic and postal, and that it is within the Austro-Hungarian theater of war.

Now's the Time to Marry.

This is the time of year when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. There is a rush to get married.

Young women are making trousseaus and young men are counting their fortunes and preparing homes for themselves and their brides. It has been so in many seasons before; and it will be so many seasons again.

One custom that is never outgrown by change and that time never leaves behind is that of marrying in June. All nature joins in this custom; all plant life, from the tiniest hair-like pond weeds to the gorgeous roses and the mighty trees, wed in June. The June weddings add much to the gaiety of the season. It is good to get married at any time, but the best time is June.

Engaged couples should have the knot tied now. Delay is unpleasant and not at all profitable or safe. Long engagements are an abomination.

When a young man asks a girl to be his wife he should not mean that the marriage is to take place in 1917 or next year; he should ask that the knot be tied forthwith. Most men do; but those drawers who ask for time and who flutter around and cannot make up their minds should be sent about their business.

If a man wishes a girl to be his wife, let him face the person like a man. June is the month for marrying.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Very Green.

"But surely when a girl accepts a man's proposal it means that she loves him."

"Nonsense, my dear boy! It quite frequently doesn't even mean that she intends to marry him."

Possible Explanation.

Said He—Born in Mars, perhaps.
Said She—Why in Mars?
Said He—The years in Mars have 687 days.

A GREAT FAULT.

She—Do you think actors ought to marry?
He—Oh! yes; but not quite so frequently.

Hopeless Grouch.

"Every cloud has a silver lining," remarked the optimist.
"There is also gold in sea water," retorted the pessimist. "And neither of these deposits does anybody a bit of good."

DR. BRUNER SHIES AT IT

Not For Statewide Prohibition After All He Has Said.

Hazard, Ky., June 9.—Doctor Ben L. Bruner spoke here Saturday in the interest of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor.

As this was Doctor Bruner's opening speech there was much curiosity regarding his attitude on some of the leading issues. He declared in favor of the county unit law in opposition to Statewide prohibition, and for Nationwide prohibition. While personally in favor of the county unit law, he said if the Legislature passed a resolution submitting a Statewide constitutional amendment to the people he would vote for it.

GREEN PEPPERS IN FAVOR

Varieties Are Numerous and Have Been Improved in Late Years—Magnum Dulce Is Largest.

Green peppers can be grown on any good garden soil, but should not be put out till the ground is warm. The varieties of peppers unlike the eggplant are numerous, and therefore have been greatly improved of late years.

The upright sweet salad is a fine pepper. It is bright scarlet in color, mild and sweet.

Magnum Dulce is by far the largest pepper in cultivation, and the most prolific; no other variety gives such large specimens. It is very sweet and perfectly reliable.

Ruby King is one of the standards and has for many years been deserving of first place among the varieties of peppers, but in many respects it is not equal to the above described kinds.

Chinese Giant is very large, but not as prolific as some of the other large varieties.

SCALP WOUND

W. R. Brumfield Cut on Head by Farm Employee.

W. R. Brumfield was cut on the head by A. J. Shelby, who had been in the employ of Mr. Brumfield on his farm near the city. The trouble occurred late Monday afternoon. Mr. Brumfield, it seems, had notified Shelby that his services would not be longer required and the trouble followed. Mr. Brumfield's wound is not of a serious nature. A warrant was sworn out against Shelby, but up to yesterday he had not been located.

NEW POSTMASTER TO TAKE CHARGE OF MARION OFFICE.

Marion, Ky., June 8.—July 1 Marion will undergo a change in postmasters, Carl Henderson, Republican, the incumbent, having resigned. Jesse Olive, Democrat, will succeed him. Mr. Henderson's resignation was the result of a curtailment in salary caused by a change in the city's rating. Since 1908 Marion has been rated as a second-class city, but on July 1, will be in the third class. The five assistants will also retire on that date, as the office will be taken from the civil service business. Walter Guess, first assistant postmaster, has held the position for six years.

ROADS AND ROAD MATERIALS

Highway Should Be No More Expensive Than Traffic Warrants, and Materials Suited to Traffic.

(By V. M. CONE, Colorado Agricultural College.)

Roads and road materials are the subject of much discussion all over the country. Most of our roads are still being patched up, or, which is still worse, being turned upside down periodically with plow and scraper, and a soft road is the certain result.

However, some good roads are being built each year. Roads are a business. If they are good roads they are a good business, if they are bad roads they are a bad business. A road should be no more expensive than the traffic warrants, and the materials of which the road is constructed must be suited to the traffic.

Cobble stones are good roads for heavy drayage and asphaltum pavements are excellent for pleasure vehicles, but they are certainly not interchangeable in usage. It would be as foolish in many cases to have an asphaltum pavement on a country road, as a dirt street in the busy traffic district of a city.

Too often people lose sight of the

Good Road Bordered With Lombardy
Poplars to Serve as a Windbreak.

repairs needed in order to keep roads good, and that is not done without expense. In fact, the maintenance and depreciation charges are usually greater for good roads than for ordinary roads, but good roads are worth the extra expense, and they are, therefore, good business.

Many people speak of the surface of a good road as though it were an arch which must support the weight of traffic, but the chief concern in properly constructed good roads is the wear on the road surface material, caused by the grinding action of wheels and the suction action of rapidly moving automobile tires, which remove the fine dust and binding materials, exposing the coarser and more compact material.

Macadam, one of the most famous road builders, laid down three rules for making a good road: (1) Good Drainage, (2) Better Drainage, (3) Still Better Drainage; or, in other words, "A good road has a tight roof and a dry cellar." Proper drainage to prevent water from getting into the road from beneath and a good surface to cause the rainfall to run off before entering the foundation, will insure a good road, because a well-packed earth foundation will sustain the weight of ordinary country traffic without breaking through. If the surface is not preserved, the foundation of the road will be damaged, and this applies to dirt as well as rock roads, for in many cases we find that earth roads are the most advisable kind of good roads and all that the traffic wants.

It is necessary to keep the roof tight. Do not allow holes to remain in the road surface, for if they are not repaired the water will collect in them and run through into the foundation causing "chuck holes."

Duty of Every Farmer.

No man who farms should begrudge
the time he spends in grading, dragging and ditching the highways. He must use them 12 months in the year. Every day's work makes them a little better if the work is done intelligently.

In many localities the merchants have aided in the work of road betterment, and it seems ridiculous that their efforts should be distrusted by the farmers.

Importance of Movement.

Of the 2,000 miles of public roads in the United States only about 200, 000 miles have been given a hard surface.

Good Roads Mean Much.

Good roads mean as much to moral and intellectual welfare as to economical distribution.

True Civilization.

Voting for good roads at every opportunity is a mark of true civilization.

Might Be Dead To-day.

Garden City, Kan.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hammer, of this city, says: "I firmly believe that I would not be alive to-day, if it were not for Cardui. I had been a sufferer from womanly troubles all my life, until I found that great remedy.
I feel that I can't praise it too highly." Are you a woman, suffering from some of the troubles, to which a woman is peculiarly liable? If so why not try Cardui, the woman's tonic? You can rely on Cardui. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless and acts gently but surely, without bad after effects. 'Twill help you.

Woman Can Keep Secret.

Can a woman keep a secret? A bishop says she can't. And he ought to know. But he doesn't, say the women. "Don't tell church secrets to your wife," the bishop advised a bunch of laymen, "because they will be no longer secrets." And the women come right back just like this: "The worst gossips and betrayers of confidence are of masculine gender. How do most women who spread secrets obtain possession of them in the first place? From their husbands, of course.
Doesn't the fact that a woman usually conceals any truth damaging to herself prove that she can keep a secret?"
So there.

Unhandy Coins.

Among the strangest coins in the world are those used in certain out-of-the-way towns and villages in southwest Algeria, on the west coast of Africa, and called the "manillas."

In shape they resemble a horseshoe with the two extremities flattened out like a camel's foot. Being made of solid copper, threeeighths of an inch thick, they weigh over eight ounces each. In "face value" seven of these queer coins are equivalent to one quarter, so that a dollar's worth would be an uncomfortably heavy load!

Military Funerals.

It is not universally known what is meant by a funeral "with full military honors." In such a funeral the coffin is borne on a gun carriage. If the dead soldier was a cavalryman his sword and helmet are fastened to the saddle of his horse, which is led immediately behind the gun-carriage, and his top-boots, with spurs attached, are fastened in stirrups, with the toes pointing backwards. A firing party, drawn, if possible, from the deceased's regiment, fires three volleys over the grave, and the "Last Post" is then sounded by buglers.

MEANING OF 'DOUBLE MATING'

Subject of Interest to Fanciers of Some Breeds, Particularly Barred Plymouth Rocks.

Real poultry fanciers often go into details that have little interest for the practical man and little real bearing on egg production. One subject the fanciers of some breeds, particularly Barred Plymouth Rocks, have to deal with is "double mating," or "pullet mating," and "cockrel mating," which needs explanation for those not familiar with the topic.

This is a result of the breed standard calling for one color or shade for the cock and another for the hen.
Plymouth Rock standards, for exam-

Barred Plymouth Rock Cockerel.

ple, call for darker males than would normally be produced by mating properly colored males with properly colored females, and they also call for lighter colored females than would be secured by the same mating. To overcome this and to get results up to breed qualifications it is customary to mate rather comparatively dark males and comparatively dark females when exhibition cockerels are desired, and lighter than normal birds for exhibition pullets. The first is a "cockrel mating," the second a "pullet mating." The breed specifications thus tend to make extra work for the breeder, who should be permitted to breed only for color, form and egg production.

PREVENT SOFT-SHELLED EGGS

One Suggestion Is That Hens Are Not Getting Enough Lime—Over-Feeding Is Another Cause.

Soft-shelled eggs may possibly be a suggestion that the hens are not getting enough lime. Far more likely it is, when your hens start laying soft-shelled eggs, that you have been over-feeding, and in consequence the fowls are too fat. Therefore a reduction in quantity, as well as a change of diet is necessary.

An excellent plan is to find out which particular hen is at fault, and confine her to a less fattening ration, with only a small amount of water.
At the end of a week restore her to the flock, and generally increase amount of lime given in food. A period of this dieting, followed by an abundance of oyster shells is almost certain to speedily correct the trouble.

When the egg has a normal shell, but one which is very thin, it is a very good indication that the hen is all right, but that lime is top scant. In this case supplying oyster shells, or lime in another form, is quite sure to make the egg shells thicker and stronger very quickly.

DAMPNESS DOES MUCH HARM

Young Duck or Gosling Cannot Stand
Heavy Wetting—Cause of Rheumatism and Colds.

Getting the body wet in spring or early summer will generally kill a young duck or gosling.

Dampness will give them rheumatism and cold, and cold will bring on sore eyes.

A young duck caught in the rain will often raise its head, open its mouth, and stand stone still until it drowns, when but a few feet farther along it could have found shelter.

Feed Meat in Some Form.

There must be meat in some form in the daily bill of fare of laying and growing stock. But that amount should not exceed over 25 per cent of the total amount of feed fed. Too much meat and bone produces laxity of the bowels, impairs the digestive organs, and often results in soft-shelled, thin-shelled and infertile eggs.

Value of Nest Eggs.

While nest eggs have nothing to do with increased egg production, they have a good mission in teaching the hens to lay in certain places, instead of scattering their eggs any and every where.

POULTRY FACTS

NEGLECT OF FARM POULTRY

Most Flocks Are Too Small and Are Not Given Attention and Care They Deserve.

We believe that we are justified in saying that the average farmer does not give enough attention to the poultry side of farming. Experiments that have been conducted show that the farmer's flock may be made a profitable part of his live-stock business. Most flocks are too small and do not receive the attention, study and care they should, says Utah Farmer. No live stock pays bigger dividends when put on a commercial footing and properly managed. It costs little more to care for a large flock than for a few hens.

Keep a flock for business reasons and not merely from force of habit. Mongrels or scrubs are not the kind to have. Get some pure-bred chickens of the kind you like. We would laugh at the live-stock man who depended upon scrubs to build up his live-stock business. Pure-bred stock will nearly always arouse the enthusiasm of its owner and his family.

Other essentials to profitable farm poultry are houses, equipment for hatching and rearing, care, feeding, marketing, etc. The humble hen produces millions each year—the question we ask is, are you getting your share?

There is money in poultry—if you do not have the time, turn this part of your farm work over to the boys or girls.

DON'T USE CAYENNE PEPPER

Liver Disease and Kindred Troubles Are General Result of Use of This Strong Spice.

The writer is strongly opposed to the use of cayenne pepper. He knows from past experience that liver disease and kindred troubles are the general result when this strong spice is used, but if that condiment is placed in a preparation of spices there no doubt is a medicinal virtue in it.

Condition powder if rightly made is composed of such ingredients as work on the blood which in turn purifies the system and nips in the bud any disease germs that may be starting, says a writer in Texas Stockman.

Furthermore a reliable powder will strengthen the organs which must make egg production more easy and natural. Of course there must be a judicious use of all stimulating preparations—just enough to gain the point desired.

It is not in the use, but the abuse, that condition powder or any stimulant like corn, buckwheat or barley gets that makes it dangerous to fowl life.

SIMPLE TRAP-NEST SCHEME

Weight of Fowl Releases Support and Closes Opening—Hen Is Taken Out Through Top.

In response to a query for a sketch of a simple trap nest Montreal He. aid gives the following:

The illustration shows a very simple trap nest. The hen walks on the running board to the nest. When she gets near the point E her weight depresses that end of the board and disconnects the support D, which falls of its own weight. Then when she steps into the nest the board being heavier on the outside and hinged at A, tips until the opening to the nest is closed. The hen is removed from the top of the nest, which is then reset as shown above.

MEAT RATION FOR CHICKENS

West Virginia Experiment Station Makes Interesting Test—Eggs Are Much Larger.

The effect of meat rations was tested at the West Virginia Experiment Station, where one pen of fowls received a ration largely of corn and other starchy grains, while another pen was fed partly on meat and fresh bones.

The meat-fed fowls laid 7,555 eggs, while the grain-fed birds laid 3,431, or less than one-half as many as those receiving the nitrogenous ration.

The eggs from the meat-fed fowls were larger, much firmer, rather better, and produced far more vigorous chickens than those of the others. Both lots of fowls remained in a healthy, vigorous condition.

Excellent Egg Producer. Common field peas contain a large amount of nitrogenous substances, consequently making an excellent egg-producing food.

HE HAD REGIMENT SIZED UP

Commanding Officer Frank in His Opinion of the Men Whom He Was Training.

Life in the new army teaches a man to look after himself, says London Tit-Bits. This is especially true of the larger camps, and the rule appears to be that "they shall take who have the power and they shall keep who can."

A story illustrative of this is told of one of the Yorkshire regiments now in training. The cold weather had led some of the men to forage for extra blankets one night, and when next morning they were warned that the colonel was coming round for kit inspection they were too busy cleaning and preparing to put matters right again. The result was that when the men paraded some of them had three or four blankets, while others had no blanket at all.

The colonel noticed this in his inspection, but said no word until he had been wholly round. Then, drawing himself up in front of the men, he thundered:

"Ahem, major, one-half the regiment are simple fools and the other half are bloomin' thieves."

ROAD BUILDING

GUARD AGAINST ROAD ABUSE

Some Punishment Should Be Meted Out to Those Who Deliberately Cut Up Highways Built for Public.

You bought and paid for the road that runs by your doorway and the other roads in your township and county. That is, you paid your part in building the highway. If you are a property owner you paid that part directly in so many dollars and cents of road and bridge tax. If you are a renter you are not escaping. You are paying in rent and indirectly.

The road is your road. If it is cut up by the hauling of heavy loads on narrow-tired wagons you will have to stand for the trouble and discomforts of next winter, when the ruts are deep. If you permit heavy rains to scour out the foundations of a wooden culvert and that culvert finally falls in or is washed out, you, as one of the daily users of that road, will be discommoded.

Most of our roads are dirt highways, writes H. S. Sullivan of Missouri in Farm Progress. Only a small, a very small, percentage of the highways of this country are "hard roads." One hundred years from now we may have the beautiful "metal" highways such as are found in the older European countries, but this is a big land of ours. It is a country of magnificent distances, and the rock and concrete roads are going to be built very slowly.

It is the dirt highway that suffers from carelessness. Two or three men in a neighborhood can spoil more miles of highway than the remainder of the community can build. They are abusers of what other men build. They will pile on the heaviest load it is possible to pull and they never use the wide-tired vehicles that might help the wagon track stand up under the big loads.

Good or bad weather is all the same to them if they have something they want hauled. The sensible man knows that the use of a dirt road for heavy hauling in bad weather will spoil the highway. He won't do any teaming that he can avoid, but the road butcher will go right ahead. He will spoil his own roads and the roads of others.

There ought to be some punishment provided for the man who will deliberately cut up the roadway built by the community and paid for with the public money. Some states have laws providing punishment for the man who overloads, who uses "skidding logs," who fills mudholes full of old rails, chunks and poles, and who will pile a wheelbarrow full of rocks in a rut, to become a menace to all vehicles as soon as the road dries off.

But these laws are seldom enforced. Not from any lack of offenders or from the lack of knowledge as to just who the offenders are. Good people are afraid to complain against such men. They are found in every neighborhood and they go along for years in a domineering, overbearing manner, working all manner of injustices because they have their "bluff in" on the community. They are the gentry whose cattle are rogues, whose fences are always bad, whose dogs are "sheep killers," and who are known in the neighborhood as "bad men to have trouble with."

Most of our dirt roads are so abused in winter that they have to be partially rebuilt in the spring. This eats up the road tax and the days of road work that might be expected to make the roads of this year better than those of last. Late fall, winter and early spring are the seasons when the roads should be guarded against abuse. Why not try a policy of "road conservation" in your neighborhood this year?

Bridges Should Be Painted. Recent investigations of the Illinois state highway department indicate that few highway steel bridges in that state are painted after their final completion and acceptance. Very serious corrosion results and is illustrated in a number of cases, says the Engineering Record. A serious factor in the corrosion of iron and steel is the use of salt to clear the roadway of snow and ice. This was considered at least partly responsible for the bad condition of truss members in a bridge at Chicago.

TYPEWRITER ACCESSORY.

One of the latest conveniences for typists is a copy holder that automatically shifts the notebook, or copy, past a line finder, one line at a time, through the operation of a lever placed at the side of the typewriter. This holder is mounted on the desk just back of the typewriter so that the copy is held vertically within easy range of the eye. The line finder is stationary, while the portion of the device that supports the copy is raised one line when the lever is pressed down, or lowered one line when the lever is raised. The device is easily adjusted to any spacing from one-thirty-second inch to 1 3/8 inches. — Popular Mechanics Magazine.

BATTLE IN THE AIR

Conflict Without Parallel In History of World Won by Skillful Aviator.

GERMAN CREW KILLED IN FALL

Germans May be Forced to Move Zeppelin Base Further Back.

London, June 8.—For the first time on record a Zeppelin in the air has been destroyed by an aviator in an aeroplane. Reginald A. J. Warneford, a young Canadian sublieutenant in the royal navy, who mastered aeroplaning only this spring, has performed the feat and tonight is somewhere within the British lines, while the Zeppelin sprawls a wreck on the roof and grounds of an orphanage near Ghent.

Falling there a blazing mass after being struck by the young aviator's bombs, its crew of 28 men were killed, as also were several occupants of the orphanage buildings.

The Zeppelin, which was flying comparatively low, when sighted began to mount immediately, but the British wasp was speedier and climbed into the air in long spirals, reaching a position, at length, over the German's vast bulk. From this vantage point Warneford pierced the Zeppelin's shell repeatedly with his incendiary bombs.

Without parallel in this war or any other is the story which the young aviator will have to relate, for details of the fight have not yet been told. First came the long pursuit, for, according to the admiralty report, the aeroplanes was 6,000 feet up. To reach this altitude would require nearly twenty minutes, and the Zeppelin, meantime, could drive forward approximately 15 miles.

Then came the maneuvering for position, and finally the dropping of the bombs, from which the dirigible tried vainly to escape. Mino explosions occurred, and, at last, one of terrific force, and the Zeppelin burst into flames.

At that moment Warneford must have been at close range over the dirigible, for almost simultaneously with the outburst his machine turned completely over, and for a moment he hung head down, his monoplane pitching and tossing in the swift current which rushed up to fill the vacuum created.

Then by a desperate effort Warneford righted his machine far above the earth and planned to a landing behind the German lines. He alighted unhurt, set his propeller going again and flew off to the west.

A Reuter dispatch says two nurses and two children were killed and many others injured. All versions agree that the Zeppelin crew perished and this seems certain as the great craft was struck while more than a mile in the air and must have been a roaring torch before it struck the earth.

BFN FRANKLIN ON PUBLIC HEALTH.

Benjamin Franklin said in Poor Richard's Almanac 1749, "Nine men in ten are suicides." He meant that nine men out of ten hasten their own death through ignorance or violation of the laws of health. Good health is not ordinarily obtained by taking medicines. Nature decrees that good health shall be the result of normal living. Plenty of good food, pure water, exercise, fresh air, sleep; abstinence from vicious and intemperate habits; mental self control instead of worry; these are the foundations of good health during a long life. This is the doctrine continually talked by the State Tuberculosis Commission, and the State Board of Health, and every health officer and sanitarian.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

I—Introductory

Through the Press Service of Agriculture and Commerce, the master minds of this nation will be invited to the public forum and asked to deliver a message to civilization. Men who achieve seldom talk, and men who talk seldom achieve. There is no such thing as a noisy thinker, and brevity is always a close companion to truth.

It will be a great privilege to stand by the side of men who can roll in place the cornerstone of industry; to associate with men who can look at the world and see to the bottom of it; to commune with men who can hear the roar of civilization a few centuries away.

Too often we listen to the rabble element of our day that cries out against every man who achieves, "Crucify him." Mankind never has and probably never will produce a generation that appreciates the genius of its day. There never will be a crown without a cross, progress without sacrifice or an achievement without a challenge.

This is an age of service, and that man is greatest who serves the largest number. The present generation has done more to improve the condition of mankind than any civilization since human motives began their upward flight. The Greeks gave human life inspiration, but while her orators were speaking with the tongues of angels, her farmers were plowing with forked sticks; while her philosophers were emancipating human thought from bondage, her traffic moved on two-wheeled carts driven, and oftentimes drawn, by slaves; while her artists were painting divine dreams on canvas, the streets of proud Athens were lighted by fire-brands dipped in tallow.

The genius of past ages sought to arouse the intellect and stir the soul but the master minds of today are seeking to serve. Civilization has assigned to America the greatest task of the greatest age, and the greatest men that ever trod the greatest planet are solving it. Their achievements have astounded the whole world and we challenge every age and nation to name men or products that can approach in creative genius or masterful skill in organization, the marvelous achievements of the tremendous men of the present day. Edison can press a button and turn a light on multiplied millions of homes; Vail can take down the receiver and talk with fifty millions of people; McCormick's reaper can harvest the world's crop, and Fulton's steam engine moves the commerce of land and sea.

The greatest thing a human being can do is to serve his fellow men; Christ did it; Kings decree it, and wise men teach it. It is the glory of this practical age that Edison could find no higher calling than to become the janitor to civilization; Vail the messenger to mankind; McCormick the hired hand to agriculture, and Fulton the teamster to industry, and blessed is the age that has such masters for its servants.

INTRUDERS CAUGHT.

But Made a Quick Get-Away While Awaiting An Officer.

Tuesday night Mr. Kirk, an employee of the Peter Fox Sons Co., caught a negro man breaking into the part of the plant where the chickens are kept, and marched him into the office and proceeded to call the police. Watching his chance, the man made a dash and escaped before an officer could reach the scene. A warrant was sworn out for Russell Payne, and also for Lee Barrow, who was alleged to be with him, but up to yesterday they had not been apprehended.

Seebree, Ky., June 9.—D. J. Young, the popular proprietor of the Palace Hotel makes a business of meeting the passenger trains. Wednesday morning he met the Dixie Flyer as usual. A young man stepped off the train and Mr. Young asked him if he wanted a hotel. The young man said he did and taking his suit case, Mr. Young walked with his guest to the hotel. When "the guest" arrived at the door Mrs. Young threw her arms around his neck and kissed him. Mr. Young was struck with awe at his wife's seeming rudeness, but discovered that his "guest" was no other than his son, Ortiz, who had been absent several years and had come home on a visit.

Fishing Boats Sunk.
